The Labaron Reservoir is the highest fishing lake in the Tushar Mountains at 9,900 ft. Located west of Junction on FS-137, Labaron can be accessed by motor vehicle or street legal OHV.

Nestled amongst pine, cottonwoods and aspen, you will find primitive camp sights with lake front access on Forest Service land. The Labaron is maintained by the Utah Division of Wildlife Resources as a stabilized lake for recreational fishing and stocked with rainbow and brook trout, and occasionally arctic grayling.
